Inffinito has just announced the official selection for the Inffinito Brazilian Film Festival, the largest Brazilian film festival held abroad. From August 29 to September 26, more than 60 films will be screened for North American audiences across six thematic sections (full list below), with in-person events taking place in Broward (Deerfield Beach and Hallandale), Miami Dade (Coral Gables, Miami Beach, and Downtown Miami). The festival will also honor 88-year-old actor Reginaldo Faria, who will attend to receive the Crystal Lens – Lifetime Achievement Award on the awards night (September 13). His latest film, “The Closer to the Sun, the Brighter”, directed by his son Regis Faria, will make its international premiere at the event.

The music lineup features artists such as IZA, Ilê Aiyê, Silvia Brazil & NovaSoul Band, DJ Lupa and Miamibloco’s Bateria Saideira. The festival kicks off in person with the 18th edition in New York and the 29th edition in Miami, and audiences across the U.S. – from Puerto Rico to Alaska – can also access the festival via the Inff.online streaming platform, which is available in Brazil as well.

Feature Films Competition: “Everyone (Still) Has Problems With Sex”, by Renata Paschoal; “The Best Mother in the World”, by Anna Muylaert; “Malu”, by Pedro Freire; “Mangrove Sons”, by Eliane Caffé; “Cancer with Virgo Rising”, by Rosane Svartman (attending the screening actress Suzana Pires); “A Wolf Among the Swans”, by Marcos Schechtman and Helena Varvaki (Q&A with ballet dancer Thiago Soares after the screening); Short Film Competition: “A Girl, A River”, by Renata Martins; “Crossing”, by Karol Felicio; “Pavilhão”, by Victoria Fiore; “Bijupirá”, by Eduardo Boccaletti; “Sankofa”, by Anna Parisi; “Nhandê”, by Elisa Telles and Begê Muniz; “Jaz”, by Liza Gomes (attending the screening).

Founded and directed by producers Adriana L. Dutra, Cláudia Dutra, and Viviane B. Spinelli since 1997 in 14 cities (Miami, New York, Vancouver, Barcelona, Madrid, London, Rome, Frascati, Milan, Bogotá, Montevideo, Buenos Aires, Shanghai, and in Brazil, in Canudos), the Inffinito Brazilian Film Festival has held 102 editions worldwide and is the main gateway for Brazilian films into the North American and Latin American markets.

18th Inffinito Brazilian Film Festival - New York August 29 - 31

The 18th edition opens August 29 in partnership with SummerStage – Central Park, New York Parks, and sponsors such as Garcia Family Foundation, Minas Production, and Embratur, with support from the Brazilian Consulate in NY, City Parks Foundation, and NYC Parks.

Opening night features the documentary “Brasiliana: The Black Musical That Presented Brazil to the World”, by Joel Zito Araújo, at Thomas Jefferson Park, East Harlem – free admission. With a strong Latino, Caribbean, and African American community, East Harlem is one of the areas where Inffinito is expanding its programming.

On August 31, rapper Evandro Fióti kicks off the evening, followed by screenings of two award-winning shorts: “A Girl, A River”, by Renata Martins, and “Neon Phantom”, by Leonardo Martinelli. Then comes a performance by legendary group Ilê Aiyê, Brazil’s first Afro group, founded in 1975, and singer IZA, known for fusing pop, R&B, reggae, and Afro-Brazilian rhythms. The event takes place at SummerStage Central Park, known for featuring top-tier global talent in free concerts.

29th Inffinito Brazilian Film Festival - Miami September - 3 - 13

The 29th edition lands in Florida with screenings in Deerfield Beach, Coral Gables, Miami Beach, and Downtown Miami. The opening film is “A Brilliant Lawyer”, by Ale McHaddo, screening at Paragon Theaters Deerfield, with lead actor Leandro Hassum in attendance for a post-screening talk. On September 7, Brazil’s Independence Day, DJ Lupa and Silvia Brazil & NovaSoul Band will perform at Carousel Club Gulfstream Park, Hallandale Beach - free admission.

Highlights include:

- Florida premiere of “Os Afro-Sambas: The Brazil of Baden and Vinicius”, by Emílio Domingos, on September 4 at Coral Gables Art Cinema.
- “Kati Ranpari Kin – Are You Listening? I Want You to Listen”, by Sérgio Gag, on September 5 at Miami Dade College Wolfson Auditorium, in partnership with the Miami Film Festival.

O Cinema South Beach, in Miami Beach, hosts the Feature and Short Films in Competition from September 8–12. Winners will be selected through both a public vote and an official jury in the following categories: Best Film, Best Director, Best Screenplay, Best Cinematography, Best Actor, and Best Actress.

On September 13, the awards ceremony will be held at Silverspot Cinemas Downtown Miami, home to Florida’s largest movie screen. The night includes the world premiere of “The Closer to the Sun, the Brighter”, directed by Regis Faria, starring and honoring Reginaldo Faria.
